DRAINAGE, EROSION AND SEDIMENT CONTROL TECHNIQUE FACT SHEETS

DISCLAIMER

Significant effort has been taken to ensure that this document is representative of current best practice erosion and sediment control; however, the author does not claim that the document is without error, or that the recommendations presented within this document will not be subject to future amendment. When using these fact sheets, users should ensure that they are aware of the latest requirements of best practice erosion and sediment control.

Use of these fact sheets, including all technique sizing tables and hydraulic design parameters, requires professional interpretation and judgement. Appropriate investigation, planning, and design procedures must be applied in a manner appropriate for the given work activity and site conditions.

No warranty or guarantee, express, implied, or statutory is made as to the accuracy, reliability, suitability, or results of the methods or recommendations.

The author shall have no liability or responsibility to the user or any other person or entity with respect to any liability, loss, or damage caused, or alleged to be caused, directly or indirectly, by the adoption and use of the methods and recommendations of any part of these fact sheets, including, but not limited to, any interruption of service, loss of business or anticipatory profits, or consequential damages resulting from the use of the document.

Specifically, the adoption of these design procedures, guidelines and information will not guarantee:

- (i) compliance with any statutory obligations;
- (ii) compliance with specific water quality objectives;
- (iii) avoidance of environmental harm or nuisance.
